REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art fails to disclose a safety device for a vehicle comprising a calculation and control element for ordering a start of actuation of the passenger protection element, wherein actuation is started when an available time before a crash, which is the time to an estimated crash time calculated on the basis of the detected distance and relative speed has fallen to predetermined first threshold time, and wherein the predetermined first threshold time is set to be equal to or longer than the actuation rise time; and a deceleration rate information detecting element for detecting deceleration rate information relating to a deceleration rate that is a rate of change of the relative speed, the calculation and control element corrects the actuation start time on the basis of the deceleration rate information. These limitations are neither taught nor obvious by the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
